CONCERT A SUCCESS.

On Wednesday night, at 8:00 o'clock a large crowd gathered at the Academy for the purpose of listening to the selections to be rendered by the students of the Academy, under the direction of Alfred Anderson.

There were fifty of them taking part and all of them showed marked ability, and thorough training.

The first number on the program from 'Carmen' was rendered in a pleasing, masterful way.

The second number, a poem, written by Longfellow upon the death of his wife, "Good Night, Good Night, Beloved, was sung with much feeling and would have melted any heart.

The Goslings, sung by the choir was snappy and met with great applause.

Twilight, rendered by Albert F. Anderson was great and he had to respond to an encore.

Valentine's Farewell, by Zeck. Farr and the Choir was a decided success.

All the remaining numbers were good, just as good as you would hear them anywhere.

Miserere, by Mrs. Josephine Patterson and Alfred Anderson with men's chorus was simply grand and before the audience would let them take their seats they had to sing it again.

Berceuse, rendered by Zech. Farr on a cornet was received with great applause and a second piece had to follow because of the encore.

Prof. Anderson deserves great credit for his untiring efforts and his success in handling the affair so successful.

The price paid for admission was small when compared with what was given.

We are in hopes that we may soon have the privilege of attending another.

Word has been received here that Mrs. Martha Thomas is dangerously ill at Adamana. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Waite are anxious te have her come home, but Mr. Thomas is thinking seriously of sending her to Albuquerque for treatment. She has been taking treatment of Dr. Sult of Flagstaff for the past two months but does not seem to be any better.
